I wanted to take this time and explain my lack of UI. I was planning on finishing this week, but I ran into a problem with linking the right libraries and connecting module paths. I researched this issue for two days without making any progress. Then I got the flu and was down for another 3 days. I picked up again and tried to resolve the issue but I couldn't make it work. I did get the UI scenes designed and they are included with the src file. If I had another week I am confident I would be able to create something that would suffice. However, with 3 other finals to work on and a family to take care of, I had to call it and turn in what I have. I am happy with fixing the functions and connecting the database, but I am disappointed I was not able to get the UI up and running.

Thanks

Jeff
